VII. FEES FOR SERVICE

- A. A file research fee will allow applicants to submit a request to evaluate Planning, Fire and Building file documents to establish property status (zoning, land use actions, and permit status) and flag any outstanding permits, code enforcement actions, or outstanding work orders. The Department will then issue a report — Fee $75.00

- B. File Archiving, Digitization, and Publishing assists clients and staff in determining the historical record of property, maintaining a logical continuum of permitting actions and supports the value of property. The staff time and consultant resources will be focused, firstly on archiving new applications (a standard policy will be established that is endorsed by the auditor's office) and then on the historical documents. It is estimated that the recovery of all files will take approximately two years. The primary documents that need to be archived include land use documents, plats, permit documents, inspection reports, Occupancy, and in some cases plans.

A cost of $4.00 per building design drawing will be collected, assigned to a line item account and then allocated to this service. An activity report will be generated on a bimonthly basis. The rationale for assessing building design drawings is that this is the time when the property is vested and development closing is approaching. This resource will then be used to archive all file material.

- C. After-the-fact permits — are implemented to assure that all proper permits are acquired prior to action/construction. Higher penalties for after-the-fact permits are needed to obtain compliance with required codes. After-the-fact fees may be waived or reimbursed by Administrator, at the direction of the Board of Chelan County Commissioners. The fee for after-the-fact permits is 3 times the rate.

- D. NP Permit (no permit) — A fine in the amount of $750 per day is imposed if resolution to project is not completed within 180 days after issuance of NP permit. The NP permit is required to track all after-the-fact construction and the fine is required to verify Code compliance. The Board of County Commissioners will be notified prior to fines being implemented.

VIII. ADMINISTRATION OF THIS FEE SCHEDULE

No application will be considered complete and permit processing not commenced until the appropriate fees have been received. Fees required for planning review of building permits and appeals of decisions in non-permit services are payable prior to the services being rendered.

- A. Each action for which a fee is listed above will require a separate fee. Projects that involve a number of actions or permits will need to remit the total of the various fees before a Determination of Completeness is issued and processing begins.

- B. Acreage measurements for the purpose of calculating application fees will be rounded to the nearest full acre, except for projects involving less than one acre, which will be calculated as one acre.

- C. For charges based on hourly rates, hours will be rounded to the nearest quarter hour.

VIII. OTHER FEES

Other fees required in conjunction with the above applications (i.e. taxes, recording fees, etc) are not included.

IX. FEES NOT REQUIRED

Applications initiated by the Chelan County Board of County Commissioners, Chelan County Planning Commission, and Community Development are exempt from fees.

X. REFUND POLICY

Full or partial requests for refunds of application fees paid must be made in writing to the Board of County Commissioners. The Board of Chelan County Commissioners has the sole authority to approve or reject such requests. Only those fees required by the Department of Community Development may be refunded.
