Adriana Farnsworth

Other Professional Experience:

I came to Wenatchee in 1991 from Morelia Michoacán, Mexico and started working in the orchards picking fruit for many years. Then I worked for several local hotels doing housekeeping and pursuing a better life. I worked in a couple of nursing homes and quickly moved up through the various jobs. I began working at Central Washington Hospital because I enjoyed helping people. With the encouragement of my co-workers, the hospital provided a grant so that I could attend Wenatchee Valley College in the new Nursing Program in pursuit of a Nursing Degree. I wasn't able to continue in the nursing field due to a back injury. I had a strong desire to run my own business and started a trucking company in 2004, and then joined my husband operating Methow Market in 2010.

Community Service:

My love for Wenatchee pushed me to get involved in the community and I started an annual neighborhood gathering to benefit families, as well as a Christmas gifting program. I joined the City of Wenatchee Code Enforcement Board in order to get more involved in my community government and help the citizens of Wenatchee.

Statement: I want to join the Wenatchee City Council so that I can be more involved in our government and set an example for the Latino community to get interested in leadership positions. I have a passion for our children and want to help make our community safer and provide opportunities for their future. I also want to help make safety improvements in South Wenatchee including streets, sidewalks, and lighting. If I'm elected to the Wenatchee City Council, I will work hard to integrate the Latino and Anglo population and bring our citizens together as one community.

Education: Baylor University, Journalism, 1975-1978;
Arizona State University, BA English Literature, 1989

Other Professional Experience: Newspaper reporter for various newspapers in Arkansas, Texas and Arizona 1978-1998, including the Arizona Capitol Times, a newspaper that concentrated coverage on the state legislature;

Director of Communications for the Arizona School Boards Association 1998-1999;

Freelance writer for various publications and organizations, including the Washington Apple Commission, the Washington Potato Growers' Association, and the Washington State Tree Fruit Association 1999-2004;

Since retiring a number of years ago, I have been indulging a life-long desire to write a novel and make art.

Community Service: My first volunteer role was nursery helper during Vacation Bible School at the First Baptist Church of Midland, Texas when I was 13. I served on the Chandler (Arizona) ARC Board for several years. I started and coordinated the annual Christmas Basket in Chandler, Arizona during the 1980s, creating a project that touched hundreds of children and families in that town. As a professional literature tutor and editor for Arizona State University students, I also worked pro-bono at times with foreign students who needed help. I was a La Leche League leader while my children were young, and volunteered care for orphaned and injured birds. During my sons' school years I was always active in their classrooms as helper, tutor, chaperon and PTO member and officer, as well as serving on committees and ad hoc boards. I was Cub Master for our elementary school's Cub Scout Pack. I have worked quietly with small groups of individuals to help my community, wherever I was living. I have served on various committees (including FIDO, a committee working to build an off-leash dog park at Hale Park), organized volunteers, cooked for Humanity for Habitat, made and donated quilts, chaperoned field trips, communion classes, and camps.

Statement: Wenatchee schools must prepare every student for a successful future, must challenge, mentor, and encourage all learners so that no student falls behind. I will work to increase collaboration and communication and transparency at every level of decision-making. I strongly believe our teachers must be supported in their work and provided with the means, including adequate space and equipment, to help our young people succeed. Parents should never need to become warriors to obtain the resources and help their struggling students need. I have the commitment and experience to lead these changes.

Community Service:

I am an active member of the Parent Teacher Student Association in Washington State since moving to Wenatchee in 2008. Sarah Knox

Elected Experience: No elected experience.

Other Professional Experience: I am fortunate to have worked as a teacher for 3 years. I have also trained other teachers and worked as a literacy outreach technician on the Colville Indian Reservation. Through each of these positions I have gained exposure to many facets of the education process, including classroom management, collaboration with school administration, and literacy curriculum design. Currently I am the STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering, and Math) Librarian for North Central Regional Library. In this role I teach interactive science and technology to students around the North Central Washington region and encourage further science learning.

Education: I graduated from Wenatchee High School in 2007, after completing all of my elementary and middle school education in the Wenatchee public schools. I graduated from Gonzaga University in 2011 with a degree in Business Administration and received my master's degree in Elementary Education from ASU Mary Lou Fulton Teachers College in 2013.

Community Service: I value the Wenatchee community tremendously, and have committed myself to serving underserved populations in many ways. I served as the President of the Advisory Board for the Literacy Council of Chelan and Douglas County from 2016-2017. I also served as a committee chair with Junior Service League. In schools, I volunteer in after-school programs and read in classrooms during my lunch breaks.

Statement: Every child deserves an excellent education. When teachers and students are fully supported, the entire community thrives. I aim to ensure that we support teachers, engage all stakeholders, increase transparency in our administration, and use the best evidence-based practices to educate our students. Together, we can create a school district with high expectations, one that challenges and encourages all students to meet their full potential. With transparency, accountability, and fiscal stewardship, Wenatchee can be the prime example of education in our state. I have the passion, knowledge, and ability to serve this community on our school board.
