

If you are a senior adult or a disabled person and own your primary residence in Washington State you may qualify for Chelan County's "Property Tax Exemption for Senior Citizen and Disabled Persons" program that helps to reduce the payment of your property taxes. Under the exemption program, the value of your property is frozen (or "capped") at the year you qualify. That means if your assessed value increases, you will only pay taxes on the frozen value. Should your assessed value decrease, you will pay taxes on the new assessed value. However, if you have new construction on your property, it will be added to your frozen value in the year it was completed.

Chelan County Property Tax
 Reduction Program for Senior
 Adults and Disabled Persons

LEVEL 1: $0 - $30,000

If your annual income for the assessment year (last year) is UNDER $30,000, your home will be exempt from regular levies on $60,000 or 60% of your home's assessed value – whichever is greater.

For example: your annual income is $18,000 and your assessed home value is $150,000. Your taxable property value will be $60,000.

LEVEL 2: $30,001 - $35,000

If your annual income for the assessment year (last year) is between $30,001 and $35,000, your home will be exempt from regular levies on $50,000 or 35% of your home's assessed value, whichever is greater.

For example: your annual income is $28,000 and your assessed home value is $150,000. Your taxable property value will be $97,500.

LEVEL 3: $35,001 - $40,000

If your annual income for the assessment year (last year) is between $35,001 and $40,000, your home will be exempt from all excess and special levies.

ALLOWABLE DEDUCTIONS

We may be able to deduct any non-reimbursed expenses paid by you, your spouse or domestic partner for things such as:

- In-home care such as: caretaker, nurse visits, weed pulling, lawn care, snow shoveling, window washing, house cleaning expenses
- Prescriptions (that you had to pay for out-of-pocket)
- Insurance premiums for Medicare (this is paid through Social Security)
- Rest Home or Adult Family Home expenses

AGE OR DISABILITY

You must meet one of the following:

- Age 61 or over by December 31 (of last year), OR
- 100% military service-connected disability, OR
- Social Security-deemed disabled or letter of disability from your doctor (Proof of age or disability, including date deemed disabled, must be submitted)

OWNERSHIP & RESIDENCY

You must own and occupy the home in Washington State for which the exemption is claimed in total (fee owner), as a life estate (including a lease for life), or by contract purchase by December 31 of the assessment year.

A home owned jointly by a married couple, a registered domestic partnership or by co-tenants is considered owned by each spouse, domestic partner, or co-tenant. Only one person must meet the age or disability requirements. A co-tenant is a person who resides with the claimant and has ownership interest in the residence. Income information for the co-tenant must be provided.

- The property must be your primary residence at the time of your application and you must occupy the home for more than six months each year.
- Properties used as a vacation homes are not eligible for the exemption program.
