1:30:51 PM 1:30 P.M. PUBLIC HEARING - Adoption of Title 15 for Chelan County Road Standards

Chairman Goehner opens session with Commissioner Walter and Commissioner Hawkins in attendance. Also present for the public hearing is the Clerk of the Board.

1:32:22 PM STAFF REPORT:

Greg Pezoldt offers the draft report on the Chelan County Draft Title 15 Road Standards with changes and outline of changes in County Road Standards. A Title 15 Subcommittee was established consisting of local surveyors, engineers and developers to address amendments to Title 15 as directed by the County Commissioners. A public review process began with meetings in August, 2007. The General Provisions within existing Title 15 (sections 15.10 and 15.20) were placed into one section. Provisions for exemptions were added for clarification. Changes to formatting were developed for better organization within the current codified system of Title 15. Some changes developed are as follows:

- Part I - Changes in Deviations to Standards - How projects will be approved and accepted in the County, alternatives and alternative evaluations will in implemented
- Part II – Definitions, Change Fire Apparatus Road to Emergency Vehicle Road, Rural Access High Density Standards

- Road Standards Portion – Similar to Old Format of Standards, Old Road Standards with More Alternative Standards, AASHTO Standards, Change in Lots to 12 Lots for Emergency Vehicle Road, Sight Distance Changes
- Non Motorized Paths in Section Five Created
- Bridge Widths
- Submittal of Construction Plans Outlined
- Road Side Features Have been Placed Separately
- Traffic Impact Studies and Mitigation, Evaluation of Capacity of Roads, Half Street Road Improvements
- County to be Authorized Holder of Late Comers Agreements
- Formal Deviation Process, Mitigation, and Road Grades will be the most discussed issues.

1:49:39 PM Commissioners' Comments:

Commissioner Goehner states that all requests for amendments or revision to these standards from other county departments, other agencies or other outside parties shall be provided to the County Engineer for evaluation. The question on what criteria will be used in determinations for standards is explained as not prescriptive at this time. Commissioner Walter states that established governing standards can be used such as in AASHTO or WASHDOT standards. The changes can be defined as an outcome based approach rather than prescriptive approach. Exemptions to requirements are discussed.

Commissioner Goehner shares that the Planning Commission recommendation was to adopt the standards as written but any deviation from the standards would require notification and public meeting or public process.

Changes discussed in the September 20, 2007 draft standards are outlined by the Commission as follows:

- 15.11.050 (E) Exemptions
- 15.11.060 (B) Interpretation, Enforcement and Appeals

3:56:53 PM PUBLIC TESTIMONY

Dan Beardslee, member of the Title 15 Subcommittee states that the Committee does not feel this document is ready to be adopted. Section 10 was not submitted to the committee in time for review. He shares concerns he has identified:

- 15.19.045 in reference to bus pull outs give authority to Link Transit and school districts, when it those agencies should be commenting agencies only
- Access points for public safety
- Half street improvements and automatic easement along the distance of a short plat requirements will create LUPA appeals
- Requirements for sidewalks in LAMIRDS and the UGA
- Affordability is an issue to be considered.

Al Hobart addresses the Board supporting the Planning Commission recommendation for the need to have public comment on deviations from standards.

Nikki Birmingham questions if we are to deviate from the norm, hypothetically speaking, on say road grade, and who makes the final determination. Commissioner Goehner states there is an option for the County Engineer to make a judgment. The recommendation for public process would be the change to the current standard. Ms. Birmingham shares she has no avenue for resolve to her issue in a gray area now. She has followed all the recommendations and requirements she was given. An engineer has done an alternative plan for her. She voices her concern in the county process. Commissioner Walter responds that the process is what we have now until there is a change. Commissioner Hawkins states that the County is hampered by how we provide for growth where there are limits of law and topography. There is no solution for that restraint today.

Deanna Walter, committee member, states that initially it was her understanding this was going to be a revision of the current road standards. Rather, as she sees it is a total re-write, not a revision. Building flexibility in the code and giving the County Engineer sole granting authority is giving too much authority and broad discretion. There are no criteria involved for the County Engineer to determine different results. There can be different results for each project. Commissioner Hawkins states there is not going to be a process that will totally eliminate inconsistency. Ms. Walter shares this is a good start. The draft is now ready to be seen again by the committee. There are many changes that were not looked at by the committee. Ms. Walter does not favor the template used as the best model. She shares concerns with part ten, traffic impact studies and mitigation regarding Significance Standards and the term “significant effect on the environment” in reference to CEPA.

Aaron Young, Title 15 committee member shares his concerns with the draft. Section 15.15.030 which references public school access causes concern due to limited means of acceptance by the County. Intersection location restrictions may force land owners to build a road for three or four homes. Section 15.19.045 outlining criteria for bus pullouts, gives broad discretion to dictate requirements for project, but the schools as well as Link may or may not comment. Often the school district fails to respond so a project cannot move forward. Commissioner Hawkins shares that Link Transit is moving away from pull outs. Mr. Young states that Section 10 was not viewed by the committee due to time limitation. The issue of limiting two or three homes on a shared driveway is too restrictive and feels more homes on a single driveway are appropriate in some situations. Developing a road is not always necessary to access a third home.

Chuck Garvey thanks public works and the committee on behalf of the Malaga Community Counsel. He is concerned about eliminating sidewalks in the rural areas. Pathways are a good alternative but he feels that curbs alone do not work.

Rosalie Edwards shares that she was involved in the LAMIRD work in Malaga and it was a long, hard process. Most of the residents do not want urban development in rural areas. Remember they are a rural community and do not want to mirror urban city scraping.

Jamie Wallace of the Northwest Realtors Association shares that the table where grade specifications is listed was discussed in the group with the fire districts. There are concerns in that regard. Bridge standards and future resale should be considered when considering easing restrictions. LAMIRDS should be considered for sidewalks in urban designs and affordability. She feels that the committee needs to look at this document more, and the portions they did not review. The committee needs more time. Mitigation is a good concept but too much discretion on a non elected official can keep can be problematic. Written comments from Wendy Cowell are shared in regard to grade. Her comments indicate there is no inventory of slopes in the available buildable lands. Consider keeping lands out of the UGA if land owners cannot access the land. No net loss should be a consideration. She would encourage the County to set a different standard for short plats versus sub divisions. Ag lands should not be valued according to zoning but properties often cannot be short platted due to slope.

Scott Kristie states that the task force spent a lot of time and had a lot of varying expertise. There are a lot of contentious issues. Slopes and standards are discussed and they do not always address all the issues. Regarding the housing industry it will be tough to put small lots in the inventory. Affordability continually will be an issue. There is not enough dirt in-play for housing. 12% grade does not work in this county. Roads build many years ago with steep grade have worked for years.

Randy Johnson, Fire Chief of Fire District One shares that this document needs to go back to the committee. It was a good committee and he enjoyed working with all the players. It would be a mistake to move on with the document as it is written now. International fire code recommends 10-12% grade. Grade is a hot topic. He suggests the committee use the three adopted organization standards of fire agencies. He feels this is a “suggest deviation, or whatever you want to propose, and we will talk about it later”. Deviations should be the exception not the rule. Emergency response speed is affected by grade. But there are many things to look at. Road grade standards are discussed further. He states that emergency personnel want to continue to be involved.

Al Hobart poses the option of limits such as putting a 10% limit on discretion of the county engineer when it comes to restrictions such as grade.

Commissioner Walter shares that, changes, such as minimum numbers of parking, should be taken one component at a time. We need to start with the road, and add one component at a time. The road can then be built from that. This as a process is not discretionary for the public works. There are things that can be added into or built into the process. Public Works Director Greg Pezoldt stated that was the intention but maybe it has not been outlined clearly. Menu options were attempted.

Deanna Walter shares that the committee looked at a cafeteria type check list. If you changed this then you can change this. That discussion was lost in this all. Maybe we can continue that and come back with something that is useable.

Scott Kristie feels that there seems to be too much focus on grade. How do we get there? There is concern that a lot of the numbers are arbitrary.

Aaron Young feels this is something that is within the scope. The committee can do this project. The committee and public works have the information. It just has to be gleaned.

Commissioner Goehner states that the intent of the regulation has to be clear for the public.

Commissioner Hawkins questions the order of plan review. Plans will be reviewed according to the date the plan was submitted. Commissioner Hawkins would also suggest plan review is also reviewed according to the date of the re-submittal.

4:59 P.M. ACTION:

Moved by Commissioner Hawkins, seconded by Commissioner Goehner and carried to continue this hearing on Title 15 Road Standard until Tuesday, November 6 at 1:30 p.m. Commissioner Walter states that the Commissioners gave the direction to keep this hearing on October 2, 2007. This document was assembled for the October 2 deadline. This is a draft that we can work on and adopt. Commissioner Hawkins feels we can go through this process and adopt the portions that are ready at that time.
