Tips Continue To Come In, More Potential Leads Developed, More Locations Checked

The team of Law Enforcement and support personnel working the case continue extensive efforts while acting upon potential leads.

As we take an “all hands” approach to investigating the murder of three young girls, the team morale remains elevated as we work toward locating Travis Decker.

Investigators are working collaboratively throughout the county, and across the state, to contact and interview all known associates of Mr. Decker to further develop leads and his potential next moves. Additionally, more teams are being deployed to different sites Mr. Decker was known to frequent in the area.

New information has revealed Mr. Decker is well versed in wilderness survival and capable of spending days or even weeks in the wilderness on his own and with very little equipment. Although this can be a challenge while searching for him, our personnel are well equipped and prepared to seek and apprehend him.

We have obtained recent video footage and pictures of Mr. Decker, which are attached to this release. However, these videos and photos are from the days leading up to his visitation began with the girls. These are the most recent photos and videos we have that reveal his last known appearance.

Anyone with information is urged to call the CCSO tip line at 509-667-6845 or submit your information here: <https://www.co.chelan.wa.us/sheriff/forms/submit-a-tip>.

CCSO will hold a press conference on the steps of the Chelan County Courthouse tonight at 6pm to provide any potential updates to the ongoing investigation.
